

Contents

- “Cave of the Heart,” The Medea of Martha Graham and Isamu Noguchi:
Twentieth-Century Classical Reception in the Visual and Performance Arts
Ronnie Ancona (Hunter College and The Graduate Center, CUNY) 1-25
- A Royal Chase in the Company of Three?
The Hunting Scene in Vergil’s Aeneid IV, its Courtly Imitators and in Berlioz’s
Chasse Royale
Raymond Cormier (First Gent Emeritus, Longwood University, Virginia) 26-44
- A Modern Myth in Classical Dress:
The Titanic Disaster in Contemporary Latin Verse
Nicholas De Sutter (KU Leuven) 45-65
- Tomboyish Wisdom Gods and Sexy Gorgons: The Evolution of Ovid’s
Medusa Rape Narrative in Contemporary Children’s Literature
Robin Diver (University of Birmingham) 66-77
- A Great Political Institution in a Religious Festival:
reception of Greece in Gilbert West’s (1749) Olympick Games
James Ford (Lancashire County Museum Service) 78-95
- The War of the Frogs and the Rats
The Batrachomyomachia in Marvel’s The Mighty Thor
Nicholas Newman (Veritas Classical Academy, Marietta, Ohio) 96-112
- Shadows Redeemed: Myth and Intertextuality in the Novel and Film Room
Rocki Wentzel, (Augustana University) 113-127

